Class Descriptions

Jazz

In this class, dancers will develop their technical abilities and explore their quality of movement when executing combinations and phrases. Dancers will also work on their performance quality, honing their abilities to project through every movement.

Modern

In this class, dancers will focus on movement initiation and full body completion of movements through floor work, center work, and some improvisational work. Dancers will also explore risk taking through off balanced exercises and giving into the floor as if it were their partner.

About Hailey

Hailey Gelzheiser is a dancer, teacher, and choreographer in the Youngstown and Cleveland areas. She received her B.A. in Dance Management from Youngstown State University where she acquired an extensive education in dance technique, choreography, and pedagogy.

She currently works in Youngstown City School District as a dance teacher for East Middle School, teaching her students about dance and all of its genres, techniques, and history. She is a member of the National Dance Educator Organization and has obtained Level I certification through Dance Masters of America, Inc.

In her free time, Hailey continues to train, perform, and choreograph through local organizations like Cleveland Dance Project.
