

RET Self-Healing Extension Activity

Activity

Using what you have learned throughout this lesson and the laboratory activity elaborate on question ten from the discussion in the laboratory worksheet. Your objective is to create a presentation to the class promoting your product. This is an individual activity and each student will have a maximum of five minutes to present their product. The class will vote on the best product at the end of all presentations. Presentations can utilize any method of preference to present, such as slides, documents, posters, products, etc.
